Eight Others Are Taken

After Shooting

Strike Is Cause

Miners From Adjoining
Areas Seek to Prevent Operations

Middlesboro, Ky., April 15 (AP)—Four men were killed, eight others were in hospitals and an estimated 15 to 20 received medical treatment early today after gunfire in this southeast Kentucky coal field.

The dead:
C. W. Rhodes, 45, of Middlesboro, president of the Fork Ridge Coal Company and of the American Association, a combination of soft coal mining interests which founded Middlesboro.

E. W. Silvers, Middlesboro, vice president and treasurer of the coal company.
Bob Robinson, Tazewell, Tenn., a former Tennessee highway patrolman.
Sam Evans, Middlesboro, a miner.

Patrolman Guy Harrell of Middlesboro said the shooting occurred just on the Kentucky side of the Kentucky-Tennessee line near this mountain town and followed a concentration of miners from this country—Bell and adjoining counties where union miners have sought to stop all operations pending settlement of work contract negotiations between the C. I. O.-United Mine Workers and coal operators of the Appalachian field.

The bloodshed came with a blast of bullets on a road leading to the Fork Ridge Coal Company mine which is about one mile inside the Tennessee line.

Harrell said motorcades of miners assembled here last night and proceeded toward the mine, which has worked throughout the stoppage of operations in adjoining Harlan county subsequent to the expiration of the union-operator Appalachian contract April 1.

Five men were killed in two gun-shot affairs in Harlan county on April 1 and 2 as union miner-pickets sought to enforce a stoppage of mining there. All Harlan mines since have suspended operations under a truce arrangement sponsored by Gov. Keen Johnson.

Deputy Sheriff C. C. Harmon of Claiborne county, Tennessee, placed the time of the gunfire at about 2 a. m. (EST), three hours before the day shift was to have reported for work at Fork Ridge. Harmon said he was unable to determine at once what led to the shooting.

Hopkins Is in Charge

Washington, April 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt today placed Harry L. Hopkins officially in charge of purchasing and acquisition of war materials for all countries benefiting under the lend-lease act. Deals with other countries which involve consideration of foreign policy will be handled by the state department. Hopkins, former secretary of commerce and W.P.A. administrator, has been supervising lend-lease purchasing operations since the act was passed several weeks ago, but only in an unofficial capacity.

Plane Is Guarded

U. S. to Investigate Crash
Which Killed Three
at Binghamton

Binghamton, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—State police are guarding the wreckage of an airplane pending federal investigation of a crash which killed a Baltimore "flying evangelist," his wife and child at Tri-Cities Airport.

Dead are Don McNally, 40, who opened a mission here Sunday night; his wife, Dorothy, 27, and daughter, Kathleen Maureen, 4. In Binghamton City Hospital with a hip fracture, ankle injury and shock, Mrs. Mary Wicks, 37, Binghamton, told police she leaped from the plane last night at an altitude of about 75 feet when she thought it was going to fall.

McNally was a one-time inmate of Missouri State Prison, Jefferson City, Mo., where he made two futile breaks for freedom. In his autobiography, "From Crime to Christ," he dated his conversion to his recovery in 1921 from wounds suffered in his second escape attempt.

Convicts Captured After Fatal Break

Joseph Riordan (left, in blouse) and Charles McGale (right, bareheaded), both long-term Sing Sing convicts, in custody of police following their capture across the Hudson River from the prison. In company with John Waters, who was killed in the break, the men overpowered infirmity guards with smuggled guns. A prison guard and an Ossining policeman were slain in the break.

Drastic Change in Income Taxes Is Being Discussed

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Talk of making every penny of the individual taxpayer's earned personal income subject to federal taxation cropped up in the senate today while leaders tentatively scheduled consideration of another big spending bill.

Senators Johnson (D-Colo.) and Herring (D-Iowa) declared that Americans are ready and willing to pay heavier income taxes to help finance defense. Johnson suggested that existing exemptions of $2,000 for married persons and $800 for single individuals be eliminated entirely. Herring proposed lowering the exemptions to $1,500 and $500.

The appropriation legislation—A $1,152,372,632 supply measure for the treasury and postoffice departments—was ready for senate action, but Democratic Leader Barkley said consideration might be delayed unless Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), who has been ill, could be present to serve as floor manager.

10 Are Arraigned Before Conway; Plead Innocence

Dutchess Judge Flannery
Will Hear Testimony in MacDonald Case
on Wednesday

Illness of Austin MacDonald caused an adjournment in county court this morning. The MacDonald case had been set down for trial and selection of a jury was to be commenced today with Judge J. Edward Conway presiding. Wednesday morning the trial was to proceed with County Judge Flannery of Dutchess county presiding but after the adjournment of court Monday it was learned that MacDonald was ill of pneumonia and in the hospital.

Charged with driving a car while intoxicated, as a second offender, the MacDonald case was the first to be moved for trial at this term. When Judge Conway learned today of the condition of MacDonald the case was moved over the term by John W. DeWitt, counsel for defendant, and District Attorney N. LeVan Haver stated he had investigated and found MacDonald was ill and he consented to the case going over the term. Jurors were excused until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock when Mr. Haver expects to have a case ready.

Ten defendants were arraigned Monday afternoon before County Judge J. Edward Conway and entered pleas of not guilty. Arrangements were made to take up the trial of a criminal action at the opening of court this morning and the trial will be continued Wednesday before County Judge J. Gordon Flannery of Dutchess county.

On consent of counsel, Judge Conway presided today at the selection of the jury but since he represented the prosecution at the time the defendant, Austin MacDonald, was given a preliminary hearing in City Court he could not sit as judge at the present trial and Judge Flannery was designated to preside at the trial. MacDonald is charged with driving a car while intoxicated as a second offender.

District Attorney N. LeVan Haver arraigned the following defendants Monday afternoon under sealed indictments which had been handed up at the March term of Supreme Court:

Carl Kallop, 33, of 118 Boulevard, Kingston, charged with attempt to commit rape, first degree, and also assault, second degree, on February 25 and 26. Joseph Forman appeared for Kallop and a plea of not guilty was entered and bail fixed at $3,500.

Bail Bond Issue In Melik's Case Will Be Decided

Court Orders Defendant to Show Property Is Valued at Enough to Cover Bond

The question of whether the property owned by Mrs. Mary Melik of South Clinton avenue is worth $2,000 over and above existing mortgages will be determined Friday morning in county court at 10 o'clock when Mrs. Melik will be forced to justify the bail bond which was put up at the time her son, Zaven Melik, was admitted to bail some two weeks ago after pleading not guilty to charges of coercion and intimidating a public officer.

Zaven Melik was indicted as a result of an alleged statement made in the local draft office which, it is claimed, was a threat against Dr. Samuel Stern of the local draft board. The alleged statement was made, it is charged, when Soss Melik, brother of Zaven, was summoned for army service. It is claimed that Zaven appeared and asked for deferment for his brother and then threatened officials of Kingston Draft Board 313, when his request was denied. The act allegedly took place February 26 and Soss Melik, local artist, reported for duty in Albany but was dismissed after a physical examination was given him there.

Melik, who was granted an application to inspect the grand jury minutes last Friday at Albany, claims that he made no threat against the officials but made a statement that his father was ill and to have Soss go into the army would kill his father and then his mother might commit suicide in the office of the Selective Service Board.

Witnesses for the prosecution claim Zaven had remarked in the office that his father had suffered a stroke as a result of the induction of Soss into the army and that if anything happened because of his brother entering the service, that "someone's brains would be spattered on the walls of the draft board office." The indictment charges that the threat was made against members of the draft board.

At the time Zaven was arraigned under the indictment before Justice Bergan in Supreme Court, he entered a plea of not guilty and applied for bail. John W. DeWitt and Daniel Hoffman appeared as attorneys in the case. Bail was set at $1,000 and a property bond was presented. At that time District Attorney Haver asked the court for an opportunity to have the Melik property appraised to ascertain whether it was worth $2,000 over existing mortgages. The bond was accepted subject to the request of the district attorney and Melik has

Two Aides Are Held, Two Are Sought in Sing Sing Break

White Plains, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—District Attorney Elbert T. Gallagher will present evidence in the Sing Sing prison escape plot to the April grand jury Friday and seek first degree murder indictments against six men, it was learned today.

Four men—two of them convicts who broke out of the "big house" at Ossining yesterday for seven hours of freedom which cost four lives, and two of them outside confederates—are already in custody and authorities are seeking two others, whose identities are known, throughout the metropolitan area today.

Pending further investigation and questioning on the few remaining details to be cleared up, the four men will be lodged in county jail at Eastview, where Mr. Gallagher has already requested additional guards to watch the men he described as "the toughest thugs" arrested in recent years.

Mr. Gallagher said he was co-operating with Warden Lewis E. Lawes in checking "other angles" of the case, but refused to comment on whether authorities believe other inmates of Sing Sing were in on the scenario-like plan to "crush out" of the highwall institution.

Charles McGale, 45, master locksmith, mechanic and prison trustee who handled the actual "inside" arrangements for the break, and Joseph Riordan, 36, former member of the paper bag gang of hold-up men, are to be re-questioned in state police barracks during the day. The two convicts spent the night in county jail after being grilled throughout the day at the Hawthorne state police barracks. They were captured in Fallides Interstate Park yesterday morning after their confederate, John Waters, 30, had been killed in a gun duel with Ossining police.

Two "outside men," William Wade, 32, and Edward Kiernan, 33, confessed smuggling three revolvers into the big gray prison nearly a month ago under the chassis of a milk delivery truck.

With these weapons, Joseph Riordan, Charles McGale and John Waters blasted their way to temporary freedom early yesterday after killing a prison guard. Waters paid for this with his life in a gun duel in Ossining where a policeman also was slain.

Riordan and McGale escaped across the Hudson river but were captured a few hours later. Fourth life lost was that of a prisoner who died from shock.

All three would have made their (Continued on Page Five)

City Basks in 82-Degree Warmth Monday and Today's Not Exactly Chilly

Monday was the warmest April 14 since 1938, with the official city thermometer registering a high of 82 degrees as compared with a temperature of 84 degrees in 1938.

(The Freeman thermometer at 2 o'clock today registered 88 degrees and summer breezes played along the Strand and the waterfront where less than a month ago near-zero temperatures were recorded.)

Budapest, Rome Say Slavs Ask Armistice, but Berlin Denies; Nazis Seize Ptolemais, Kozane

Germans Say Anglo Behavior Toward
Greece Most Shameful
Crime

Retreat Is Ready

Air Force Reports Anglo
Army Is Preparing to Leave Greece

Berlin, April 15 (AP)—German troops driving into northern Greece have repulsed British forces and occupied Ptolemais and nearby Kozane, the latter 40 miles south of the Albanian and Yugoslav border junction, the German high command announced today.

The German communiqué said units of the German army and Blackshirt Elite (SS) Corps also had forced a crossing of the Aliakmon river north of Veria, a rail town 30 miles northeast of Kozane and about an equal distance north of Mount Olympus.

Near Ptolemais, 30 British armored cars were reported destroyed. In Yugoslavia, the high command asserted German and Italian troops were continuing their "pursuit and encirclement" of remnants of the Serbian army, which was declared showing localized resistance in the Mostar-Sarajevo region.

"Numerous additional prisoners were brought in," including the commanding general of the southern Yugoslav army, the war bulletin added.

Behavior Is Castigated
England's behavior in Greece was castigated by authorized Germans today as "the most shameful crime ever perpetrated on an ally."

These sources declared the German high command, through Luftwaffe reconnaissance, obtained indisputable proof that the British were preparing a hasty retreat from Greece, leaving their ally in the lurch.

London radio reports purporting to give Greek news of victories such as repulsion of the SS Adolf Hitler guards were declared to be "infamous and silly lies."

When asked where German forces now stand in the Balkans and Africa, these sources said: "As you know, our high command loves surprises and completeness. We don't propose to dish our military news out piecemeal. You'll learn soon enough just what the military situation is—it's certainly not unfavorable to us."

Is Active Diplomatically

Diplomatically, Germany also was vigorously active. Adolf Hitler, acting with Il Duce, personally recognized the establishment of an independent Croatian state from the old Croat province of Yugoslavia.

Authorized sources explained the state, as such, had been recognized without a final fixing of boundaries. This naturally would come as a result of friendly negotiations, they said.

The recognition was regarded as another step in the methodical establishment by the Axis of a new order in the Balkans.

On the other hand, the Macedonian question was left open "while arms speak."

Authorized sources declined adamantly even to discuss German-Turkish relations. To some foreign observers this indicated the time may be about ripe for another diplomatic coup.

This impression was strengthened when it was learned that both the Turkish embassy and Turkish correspondents here expect an early signing of some sort of friendship or neutrality pact between the two countries. Negotiations, however, would appear to be conducted at Ankara, not Berlin.

Three Go to Sing Sing

New York, April 15 (AP)—Three convicted killers—Harry (Happy) Maione, Frank (The Dasher) Abbandando and Horacio Cabuto—and fight manager Hymie Caplin went up the river to Sing Sing today.

For April 14 for several years past follows:
April 14, 1938 ..... 84 degrees
April 14, 1939 ..... 57 degrees
April 14, 1940 ..... 40 degrees

The warm wave began Sunday with a recorded high of 72 degrees. Rain fell that day to a depth of .04 of an inch in the city.

Monday the lowest temperature recorded was early that day when the thermometer dropped to 55 degrees. This morning the low point recorded was 59 degrees, with indication that today would be even warmer than Monday.

U. S. to Reject Italian Protest

Italian Note Against Seizure of Ships for Sabotage Is Based on Plea of Illegality, U. S. Reports

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Italy's latest protest against seizure of 28 of her ships in American ports was expected today to meet with prompt and unqualified rejection.

Noting that the protest was based on a contention of illegality, informed persons recalled that this government already has taken the position that American law fully justified its action in placing the ships under coast guard protection and bringing sabotage charges against most of their officers and crewmen.

When coast guardsmen boarded the vessels they found that vital machinery of 25 had been seriously damaged. The Rome government, in a note delivered to Secretary Hull by the Italian ambassador, Prince Colonna, yesterday, argued that this damage actually did not endanger the safety of the vessels, nor of cargo or persons aboard, and that American law covered only cases in which such safety was endangered.

Previously both Italy and Germany, two of whose ships were seized, had entered initial protests and both met with rejections. No change of United States attitude was expected to result from Rome's presentation of the legalistic arguments.

This newest diplomatic skirmish was regarded here as but another in a long chain of events contributing to the deterioration of once friendly American-Italian relations.

Already as a result of the ship seizures Italy has recalled her Washington naval attaché, Admiral Alberto Laís, in response to a demand by this government and in turn has requested the withdrawal of the assistant American military attaché in Rome, Major William D. Bentley. In conformity with usual diplomatic procedure, Washington probably will announce soon the assignment of Major Bentley to some other post.

Governor Signs Bill Prohibiting Acts of Strikers

Law Makes It Necessary for Workers to Attend
Rolling Stock in Event of Strikes

Governor Lehman signed today, within 24 hours after a public hearing, a bill introduced by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city, prohibiting transit workers from leaving rolling stock unattended and emphasized it "does not in any way prohibit the right to strike lawfully," the Associated Press reports.

"If the bill did that I would disapprove it," Lehman said in a brief memorandum accompanying his approval.

New York city and national representatives of the C. I. O. opposed the measure at the hearing, asserting among other objections, that Lehman's approval would be the signal for a nationwide "blitzkrieg" against labor.

"This bill does not in any way prohibit or limit the right to strike lawfully or the exercise of other rights granted by the law to workmen," the governor said.

Asserting the new law "does not impose any new criminal penalty," he added "nor can it be interpreted so as to lead to far-fetched and unreasonable applications."

"For instance," he explained, "it surely is not intended to make it a crime for an employee to leave a car or a bus unattended in the car barn or garage as was claimed at the hearing. I expect that any court, if called upon to enforce the bill, will give it a reasonable and sensible interpretation, particularly in view of the fact that these provisions of the penal law carry a heavy punishment."

Proponents of the measure, sponsored by Republican Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston, and passed late in the 1941 legislature, based anticipation of the governor's approval on the failure of the state federation of labor to oppose it.

Sweltering, Skating

New York, April 15 (AP)—The temperature soared into the '80s today in the second day of an unseasonable heat wave—but you could still go ice skating outdoors. Perspiring pedestrians gazed in envy at three pretty girls in short skirts and a butter-footed boy in pants skimming gaily about the open air ice rink in Rockefeller Center.

Secretary Stimson Warns U. S. Faces Dangerous Times

Head of War Department Says Preparations for Needs of Civilians
to Be Lessened

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Secretary Stimson solemnly warned a Senate investigating committee today that the United States was facing "a dangerous emergency" which "may be very prolonged."

Testifying as the first witness before a new defense investigating committee headed by Senator Truman (D., Mo.) the war department head indicated that in future preparations to meet this emergency the nation's civilian needs may be further subordinated to the military program to expedite production of war supplies.

He did not say just how long he thought the danger period might last but he declared that to meet whatever situations may arise the army was planning a program of training which will cover "many successive military units and many successive installments of men and which in the aggregate may last for five years." Presumably he referred to the training program under the Selective Service Act which will be operative until 1945.

"Thus far the department has imposed its military program on top of the normal commercial operations of the country and to the subordinate has done little to subordinate the civilian needs of the country to its military program," Stimson said.

"Possibly, we can improve our rates of production if we cut into those needs."

Analyzing the problem confronting the army in creating large forces "fully trained to operate in a war of movement," he said: "Furthermore our forces must be prepared for the possibilities of war in many and varied terrains, it being quite uncertain in what part of North or South or Central America, or even possibly other regions it ultimately may be necessary to use in the defense of this country and its possessions."

Praises General Staff

Paying tribute to the staff work done by the army general staff and the war department in getting the defense program into full swing, Stimson said it had made possible the delivery of weapons and other equipment from eight to 12 months ahead of the World War schedule.

"From this point forward," the secretary added with emphasis, "the chief responsibility for the speedy completion of the equipment will rest upon American industry."

While conceding that some "inevitable" mistakes had been made as a result of the magnitude of the rearmament program and the speed and pressure with which it was performed, Stimson expressed confidence that the committee would find that "the total of those mistakes will appear quite insignificant when set against the value of the time saved and the size of the task performed."

"What I wish now to emphasize and make clear," he said, "is that the initial delays have already been substantially conquered and overcome; that these new and improved plans are resulting in the successful accomplishments of (Continued on Page 10)

Troops Rushed

Anglo Troops Speed
to Defend Egypt
Against Axis

(By The Associated Press)
A report that Yugoslavia has asked for an armistice with the Axis was circulated in Rome and Budapest today, but was denied in Berlin.

Italian newspaper circles and Hungarian official quarters were quoted in foreign dispatches, while authorized military and diplomatic sources denied any knowledge today of the report.

And informed sources in London declared the report "a typical bit of Goebbels propaganda."

Indications in Berlin were that the Axis would attempt to force capitulation of Serb forces as was the case with the Polish army.

In Yugoslavia, the German high command said German and Italian troops were speeding the "pursuit and encirclement" of remnants of the Serb army, which was said to be putting up "localized" resistance in the Mostar-Sarajevo sector.

On the right flank, the British announced better success in stemming the Nazi onslaught.

British troops were said to have hurled back a series of assaults by German Panzer columns, in the Mt. Olympus sector in eastern Greece.

Athens dispatches said that the Nazis were advancing into the Aegean kingdom on the left after occupying Florina, the northernmost hinge of the old allied defense line, and that the Greeks were battling the Germans near Ptolemais.

In Rome, Italian newspaper circles received a Berlin report that Yugoslavia had asked for an armistice with the Axis. There was no immediate official confirmation.

The Greek high command acknowledged that the Germans were advancing in the center toward two towns 40 miles inside Greece—Kozane and Statista—south of the Albanian and Yugoslav frontiers and 30 miles south of Florina.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch said that the Germans were moving also toward Kilsura, Albanian town near Tepelini, on the Greek western front.

Greeks Withdraw

The Greek high command said that Greek forces had withdrawn from the Corizza (Koritz) sector, in southeast Albania, and that "the enemy discovered the withdrawal 24 hours after it began and sought in vain to hinder it by pushing forward motorcyclists."

Premier Mussolini's high command asserted that the Italian 9th army, after taking Corizza was driving on toward Greece through a gap torn in the western half of the Allied defense line.

The London radio declared that "strong British reinforcement are now moving up to front line in Greece."

On the North African battle front, thousands of British imperial troops released from the East African front were reported speeding to the defense of Egypt in race with Axis mechanized columns driving into the ancient land in Greece.

Courts Get Power

Custody of Children
Provided Under Bill
Signed by Lehman

Albany, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—State Supreme Courts are empowered to provide for custody and maintenance of children whose parents are denied legal separation or divorce, under a bill signed today by Governor Lehman.

The state judicial council recommending the measure in its annual report to the Legislature said the bill would prevent "jeopardizing the child's welfare as it would eliminate delay or prolonged uncertainty in placing him in proper custody."

Other bills signed by the governor, bringing to 276 the number of 1941 laws:

Allow the industrial commissioner to divide the state into districts for unemployment insurance administration.

Permit employers to apply for refund on unemployment insurance tax payments.

Authorize confiscation of unlicensed fish nets.

Cunningham was telling him about fistic defense and, when the man's attention strayed momentarily, "Deedee" hung one on him. Teacher has a nice shiner.

Many persons believe that tuberculosis does not develop in persons over 40. This is not true. No age group is safe from the disease, according to a statement made today by Dr. Frederic Holcomb of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Association, which is holding its annual Early Diagnosis Campaign throughout April.

POINTS TO REMEMBER WHEN MAKING YOUR FLOWER GARDEN

It is said that the following plants will bloom earlier if transplanted: Zinnia, Nasturtium, Larkspur, Annual Phlox and Bachelor's Button. Gardeners are cautioned, however, that such plants, and also the blooms will be somewhat smaller than if they were not transplanted.

But if you will use a complete, balanced plant food when transplanting, you will find your plants will have everything—good general growth and size, early and large blooms—and many of them.

A leading petunia grower states that where warm moist salt air is prevalent, petunia seed loses its germinating quality quickly, and should be sown promptly after purchasing. Here is a pointer that folks along the seacoast would do well to remember.

Clip and feed the privet hedge before growth begins.

Sow grass seed, apply plant food to the lawn if you have not already done so.

First plantings of gladioli may be made during the latter part of April.

Roosevelt Weds Nurse in Ceremony Held in California

Beverly Hills, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Climaxing her Cinderella romance, and wearing shoes of spun glass, Romelle Theresa Schneider, 25, and Capt. James Roosevelt, 33, U. S. Marine Corps Reserves, were married in a simple civil ceremony yesterday.

Before leaving for a brief honeymoon—the President's son returns to duty at San Diego Thursday morning—Roosevelt embraced his bride and said:

"I hope I can bring great happiness to my wife. She is the most wonderful girl in the world."

His mother, who flew here for the ceremony, kissed the radiant Romelle and said: "My dear, I am so happy for you."

"This is a charming, happy occasion."

The first lady gave her daughter-in-law a family heirloom, a large old gold double diamond clip, as a wedding present. Roosevelt's gift was a diamond and ruby bracelet.

Roosevelt said he had received a "very, very nice letter" from the President and several hundred congratulatory messages.

The word "cherish" was substituted for "obey" in the marriage vows.

Roosevelt met Miss Schneider, from Independence, Wis., after he rushed to Rochester, Minn., for a stomach operation in 1938. President Roosevelt asked that a special nurse be assigned and Miss Schneider was selected. She accompanied him to Hollister, Calif., to recuperate and has been near him since.

Roosevelt, divorced by Betsy Cushing Roosevelt of Boston 13 months ago. She has custody of their two children.

Memory May Prove To Be Molecular, Scientists Think

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

State College, Pa., April 15 (AP)—A discovery that may explain the mystery of memory, showing it to be probably a reaction between different size molecules, was reported today at Pennsylvania State College.

The discovery is the reason behind a long-known, but puzzling action of rubber and glass. This property was so striking it was called a mechanical memory.

If rubber, for example, is twisted in one direction and held so for about an hour, it afterward will try to twist itself in that same direction. It will do this even after having been twisted in the opposite direction.

Glass does a similar thing with electricity. It can be made to "remember" the direction of an electric current, so that afterward it prefers to conduct electricity in the remembered direction.

The explanation, reported to the American Ceramic Society recently by Dr. Nelson W. Taylor, head of the ceramics department of Pennsylvania State College, has been discovered in the molecules and ions of rubber and glass. Ions are molecules which have lost a bit of their matter and become electrically active.

There are many kinds of these molecules. Their sizes differ. The large ones require a longer time to react than the smaller ones.

Furthermore, the molecules appear to act independently of each other. They react both with different speeds and in different directions.

The result is that one direction will become the easiest if the inert materials are held long enough in one fixation. That easiest way then becomes the mechanical memory.

Look Out! . . . PROPAGANDA!

BY NORMAN CHANDLER, CHAIRMAN, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS COMMITTEE

HAVE you ever noticed how clearly and carefully the NEWS in your newspaper is LABELED?

Dispatches tell you WHERE the news came from; WHO said WHAT; and, whenever possible, why he said it, and what the OTHER side was.

Newspapers HAVE to be this careful. True, you, the reader, can't check up on them YOURSELF, but, in a country where freedom of speech and thought exists, no newspaper can LIVE if it tells lies. Other newspapers, or even your free-speaking neighbors, would quickly expose any deliberate "propaganda" to you.

In a democracy where every citizen is a voter, a PARTICIPANT in government, some way has to be devised to INFORM the citizen. Some way must be found to insure that he gets the TRUTH at all times.

And what we call "free speech" does the trick! If the government could suppress any paper that disagreed with it, how long do you think you would hear the TRUTH about the government?

You, the citizen, have given over to the unmuzzled American press the job of WARNING you of dangers, informing you of the behavior of the world.

You, the citizen, need never grope about blindfolded—as long as you'll be very stubborn about ONE THING:

Keep the right of all men to speak out publicly. Bind the press, as you have, only with fetters of truth and decency!

Over 300 leading newspaper publishers join together to bring you this weekly message about the function of the press in a free nation. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Ave., New York.

Plans Completed For Dinner at 'Y'

Reunion Event Is Slated for Tomorrow Night

With Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, well known "Y" secretary and humorist, as the principal speaker, Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang as toastmaster, and an exhibition of Indian club swinging and other entertainment, plans have been completed for the first annual "Old Timers' Reunion and Dinner" at the local Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening.

Tonight is the last that reservations can be made for the dinner, and those who plan to attend should get in touch with the "Y" this afternoon or evening so that a place may be reserved for them. Already many of the men who were active in "Y" activities, while boys, have signified their intention of attending the reunion to meet old friends and talk over the days before the first World War. It is also expected that many of the present members of the association will be present as well as others interested in the work being carried on for the boys and youths of the city by the association.

Turkey with all the trimmings will be served at the dinner and it will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the "Y." There will also be a special musical program during the evening together with the singing of old, familiar songs.

This is the first time that an Old Timers' Night has been arranged in the history of the local "Y" and much interest is being taken by those who were former members of the association in the days not only before the present fine building was erected in 1912, but in the days that followed.

All in 9th Local Draft Quota Pass

Fifteen Who Left City Are Now in Army

All of the 15 men comprising the ninth draft quota of the Kingston Selective Service Board who were sent to the army induction station in Albany on Monday, have been accepted, it was stated at the office of the draft board this morning. This is the second quota sent from Kingston in which none of the draftees were rejected. The other was the first quota.

Kingston's draft board is one of the 64 in the state which will not be called upon to furnish draftees in the tenth Selective Service call, but the three other draft boards in the county have been called upon to furnish 70 men for induction between May 2 and 6.

At the office of the local board it was said today that it was thought that the reason Kingston has not been included in the tenth draft call was the fact that the Kingston zone has already nearly filled the gross annual quota of men required to be in the national armed forces by June 30 of this year.

In the tenth call for men Kernonson is called upon to furnish 35 men, including one negro, on May 6; Saugerties is called upon for 14 men on May 5, while New Paltz is to send 21 men including getaway safely. Ossining police said, had not Wade and Kiernan by their own admission bungled further plans to assist in the escape by stepping into a beer tavern at a crucial moment.

Nine Months in Making

For nine months, Gallagher said the pair explained, the plot had been in the making and all went well except for one point:

Wade and Kiernan, with two other outside accomplices who got away in another car, were to have picked up the fleeing trio as it raced past the railroad station. When the threesome arrived, however, Wade and Kiernan were enjoying "a couple of drinks."

The other two aides, whose identity police withheld, were being hunted.

Prison attaches said that Riordan and McGale, questioned after their capture, had named their slain comrade Waters—like Riordan a member of Manhattan's notorious "shopping bag" bandit gang—as leader of the break.

Although Warden E. Lawes termed overcrowded Sing Sing "the weakest prison in the state," the questioning indicated it had taken months of careful preparation to escape from the 116-year-old gray-walled institution.

The breakout as reconstructed by prison authorities:

On March 22 outside confederates smuggled in a package containing three revolvers and three pairs of handcuffs by strapping it to the bottom of a milk truck without the knowledge or connivance of the driver.

Arms Are Hidden

The arms were then hidden by the trio. They also had secreted under a pipe a 20-foot length of rope stolen from the prison ice house.

Meanwhile McGale, a handy man with a lock, at odd moments had taken impressions of the locks barring their path to a tunnel leading outside the prison and spent

John F. Harris Dies

Palm Beach, Fla., April 15 (AP)—John F. Harris, 78, New York financier and Republican national committeeman from Florida for two terms, died during the night after an extended illness. He was the founder and senior partner in the financial firm of Harris-Upham and Company, New York investment bankers, and had been a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1916.

For every dollar of internal revenue collected by the federal government in 1940, state governments collected 86 cents, according to the census. In 1919, state collections were only 12 cents for each dollar of federal taxes.

Convict Slain

John Waters, long-term convict in Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., was shot to death when he and two companions made a break for freedom. An Ossining policeman and a prison guard also were slain. Waters' companions were recaptured within a few hours.

weeks fashioning crude keys out of scraps of metal.

Waters worked as a trusty in the infirmary. Three days ago Riordan and McGale feigned illness and were sent there for treatment.

In the pre-dawn hours yesterday when only two keepers were on guard, the "patients" suddenly leaped out of bed, drew guns, shot one guard and locked the other in a sub-basement, and fled through the tunnel.

Their failure to meet their outside confederate and the chance encounter with Ossining police which brought death to Waters forced the two survivors to change their careful plans.

They ran to the Hudson river and forced a shad fisherman to row them across. Scratched and weary, they were flushed from wooded hills by a posse led by bloodhounds. Within seven hours of their escape they were headed back to be held for murder.

School District Heads Named in Few Regions

Lester J. Roosa of Stone Ridge was re-elected district superintendent of the Third Supervisor District at a meeting of the school directors of that district held this morning at the Wayside Inn in Ellenville. Mr. Roosa received six of the eight votes cast. In second place was Waldo B. Cookingham who received two votes and Robert J. Service, the third candidate, received no votes.

The directors, who are allowed $2 for attending the meeting, voted to petition the legislature for an increase in their allowance for attendance at the meeting on the theory that the $2 allowance now

Police to Enforce Parking Ordinance

Pine Grove Avenue Comes Under Official Action

Traffic congestion on Pine Grove avenue because cars are parked all day both at the curb and the islands in the center of the avenue, led the local police department today to begin enforcing the no parking restrictions on that street.

Many of the employees of the factories on Pine Grove avenue drive to work and for that reason the street is lined with cars all during the day, making it difficult for large trucks to pass through the street.

While there has been a regulation against parking at the curb of the islands in the avenue it has never been enforced. No arrests were made today, but the police warned that no parking would be permitted in the future.

In 1911 during the administration of Roscoe Irwin it was decided to make a boulevard of Pine Grove avenue. The street is the widest in the city, and is 100 feet from curb to curb.

In the years before 1911 it was customary to improve only a width of 50 feet in the center of the street, leaving 25 feet on each side of the macadam unimproved.

Lieut. James V. Simpson of the police department was street superintendent during the Irwin administration, and had charge of the work of turning the avenue into a boulevard. The plans were drawn by John F. Hallinan who was city engineer. Joseph Shepard was alderman of the Ninth ward.

When the work of forming the islands in the center of the street was completed the city purchased 79 American Linden trees which were planted on the islands.

The first ornamental poles for street lighting were also installed on the islands in the avenue.

Central Business Meeting

The regular meeting of the Central Business Men's Association will be held at the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock. Matters of interest will be presented.

In the first district of Ulster county Clarence A. Johnson of Saugerties was re-elected by unanimous vote and it is understood that there was no opposition to the re-election of Ralph H. Johnson of New Paltz as superintendent of the second district.

In the fourth district Wallace J. Andrews, who has served since before the present law went into effect in 1912, is retiring. At the meeting of town school directors this morning Reginald Bennett of Chichester was named to succeed him.

Chapter 39

Brett Explains

"BECAUSE I've decided against making a fool of myself," Brett said. "Because I'm having a hard enough time being noble about this, without getting myself in deeper. There's no use talking about a thing unless you can do something about it."

"I—I don't understand what you mean," Eve said dreamily. She had picked up an odd seashell and was turning it over in her hands as if she had never seen such an object before. Brett looked at her downcast face and jammed his hands into his pockets to keep from taking her in his arms.

"All right, then—if you must have it in words of one syllable," he said. "I love you. Do you understand that? I love you."

Eve looked up, the color sweeping across her face and making her eyes more than ever the same shade as the water at her feet.

"Yes, I understand that," she said quietly.

"Then everything's fine, I suppose," Brett went on bitterly. "You're another conquest to add to your list—another man who couldn't resist you. Of course, not much of a conquest, really. Not a society guy, or one with money. Just a queer fellow who likes odd houses and has to work for a living. It won't be much to laugh about with your friends, will it? But just the same, to some girls, making a man fall in love is part of a game. Well—you won't!"

"No—let me finish," he went on. "I've got a right to say something for myself. No matter how many men have said I love you—nor how many others may say it in the years to come—you won't hear one say it and mean it as I do. You're young and gay and pretty; but if you were old and tired and sick, I'd still want nothing so much as to hold you in my arms."

Together

EVE abandoned the seashell and went over to where he stood, half turned away from her, looking at the plane.

"Why don't you?" she inquired.

"Hold me in your arms," Brett looked at her, astonishment and a sternly repressed hope struggling for expression. Eve smiled at him, her eyes tender.

"I love you, too," she went on. "I'm afraid not the same way—because I can't imagine loving anyone who isn't big and strong as you are, with curly dark hair."

THE END

Farm School Will Be Held in 1942

Agricultural Missionaries to Meet in Ithaca

Ithaca, N. Y., April 16—For the 13th year, the New York state college of agriculture at Cornell University offers its annual school for missionaries, January 19 to February 14, 1942.

More than ever before, the college authorities say, the problems of missionaries during the next few years are likely to be concerned with the everyday living of men, women and children in the mission fields. Problems of food values, food supplies, and sanitation, and of family life will be uppermost throughout most of the world, it is said.

During the past 12 years, more than 400 missionaries, home on furlough, went to Cornell for special training at the state colleges. Courses arranged for 1942 deal with food and health, family life education, sociology of rural life, rural education, and agriculture. Special meetings are planned to consider the chief interests of the missionary field.

The Cornell school is arranged with the help of boards of foreign missions and with the counsel of the Cornell United Religious Work. It has been officially endorsed by the committee of reference and counsel of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America.

Weedy Lawns Traced To Inferior Seeds

Geneva, N. Y., April 15—While other factors than the seed mixture may account for weeds in the lawn, the use of low-quality seed frequently accounts for excessively weedy lawns, declare the seed specialists at the State Experiment Station here. Tests made in the seed laboratory reveal that more than 200 different kinds of weed seeds may be represented in lawn grass mixtures which have only a low price to recommend them, say these officials.

"It is clearly evident," they continue in a recent report on tests of lawn grass mixtures, "that low-quality grass seed mixtures are a primary source of the most troublesome lawn weeds, such as chickweed, henbit, and the plantains. In fact, among the more than 200 different kinds of weed seeds found in these mixtures, buckhorn plantain, one of the worst perennial lawn weeds, was found in over one-half of the mixtures, while the two other broad-leaved plantains were nearly as abundant. Although weeds may come into the lawn from other sources, such as contaminated soil, compost, and litter used on the lawn, it should be the chief concern of the seed buyer to read carefully the label which the law requires to be plainly displayed on the container and see to it that the weed seed content is reduced to the very minimum."

"The practical remedy for this situation lies in the purchase of the better types of mixtures blended from the purest commercial seed stocks by professional seedsmen who know their business, or by buying unmixing lawn grasses and pure white clover seed from thoroughly dependable sources and mixing it at home."

"It is a regrettable fact that these low-quality mixtures are made up of stocks of seed which are so weedy that they cannot be sold readily as they are, but, when blended into a mixture their real make-up is changed and is not so noticeable. Yet, home owner begins to wonder where all the weeds come from. The weed problem will never be solved or even a start made on its solution until seed buyers demand nothing but the best and cleanest of seed stocks."

THE CAREER OF A GIRL WHO
FOLLOWED HER HEART

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER

In Which A Girl Chases A Boy With Results Neither Expected

Chapter One
Three Roads

EILEEN Gardner, small, slim, arresting in spite of her conventionally plain organically graduating gown, took her third bow for the "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah," and slid demurely to her place in the long row of graduates on the university platform.

The applause was longer than it had been for anyone else. It would be. She was her year's prize graduate and naturally she knew it. Most popular girl. Runner-up for prettiest girl. Most likely to succeed. And—though this was not in the yearbook—girl with more kinds of future spreading before her than any other man or girl in the long serious-faced young row.

She had pushed everything but the moment out of sight, these last few hectic days. But now, graduation over, song done, in the blankness of relaxation, her problems, those excellent choices, sat literally before her in the audience and demanded thinking about; unless she wanted to listen to Prexy's booming reverent voice introducing the commencement speaker at length. It must be somebody big, it was his special manner for donors and world-wides, Eileen noted.

Her eyes—so extravagantly lashed and big in her small pointed face that the last thing people took her for was a girl who'd ever seen the inside of a college—focused on her problems, down there in the audience. Large and live and much in earnest, fresh from applauding her with proprietary admiration, there they sat; in the faculty group; in the seats for relations; in the seats for just audience.

Aunt Louise, her eager thin face under its blond-gray waves lifted toward her still. The Weigands, untidy, artists intent—she with exuberant curls and strings of beads over a too-bright blouse, he small and mousy and wife-adoring; holding hands, of course, as ever. And young Jordan Estill, his thin intelligent eyes-glassed face a little tired from too many examination papers, but flushing now as he caught her glance.

Three roads. Eileen always felt somehow more grown-up than Aunt Lou, with her eagerness over this cause and that cause, her passion for culture, her hard-working enthusiasm for her job of second-grammar-grade teaching. Aunt Lou had always been just a bit, in spite of her bright intensities, scared about living. Or so it seemed to a girl who had at the moment an embarrassment of silver platters on which life was being handed her.

Aunt Lou's platter, perhaps, wasn't exactly silver. A sound Sheffield plate, more. It was the choice of positions which a girl as high in her classes as Eileen could always command, a position Aunt Lou, as she said reverently, wouldn't have dreamed of at the start.

It might, said her aunt prayerfully, lead anywhere; a secretaryship to the university's head of publicity; who wasn't called exactly that, but actually was. Any amount of amazing contacts. A steppingstone to being a career woman here in Denver; one of the city's leading citizens by the time she was thirty-five.

Eileen could go on living with her aunt, and her aunt's friend Miss Helen Doran, who taught kindergarten. They could take an apartment with one more room, so Eileen could see her friends all by herself. Aunt Lou coaxed, beaming.

Nice, being a career woman, of course. And today you didn't have to sort of take vows of celibacy, the way Aunt Lou's generation had. You could go dancing, you could have small discreet cocktail parties, you could marry. . . .

Or you could marry without any career at all. She glanced at Jordan again, and again his sensitive color mounted. It had been hard to keep him away from the point till graduation was over. And she knew she couldn't deflect things much longer.

That way lay being the pretty young wife of one of the cleverest of the English instructors. Do a little part-time secretarial work to make the home fires a little larger till the first baby came. Settle in with the university set, push your husband, be charming at faculty teas—it sounded like a good enough life, and the girl next her, quiet Lucille Anders, who was exactly fitted for it, wanted it, as brought by Jordan Estill, very much indeed. More than Eileen did.

And the Weigands.

Scouts

If she hadn't pretty nearly promised Aunt Lou to take the secretaryship she'd be inclined to take a chance on the Weigands.

Her eyes moved to them. They had their heads together. They were whispering. And Eileen thought she knew what about. They didn't often come scouting together for that little radio station of theirs a hundred-odd miles away. But they had, yesterday. They had telephoned her about an audition. And they had heard her, today, on the early part of the program, heard her sing the "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah," and applauded like mad.

They actually had been whispering about her. Lucille Anders, beside her, pinched her hand. "Look!" she muttered. "Did you see the Weigands? They've been whispering ever since you sang, and nodding like mad. Aren't you the lucky girl?"

"Born lucky," Eileen whispered back. No use going into anything here, with Prexy liable to stop any moment and leave your voice audible and alone. It wasn't as simple, financially, as Lucille thought it was—Lucille who would never have to worry about money as long as she lived.

Prexy's voice slowed, boomed more softly. "Miss Edith Willesdon. Whom you know, I need not say, by reputation," he ended, as a tall blond woman crossed the stage with a near-dramatic verve and dash.

Eileen did not know her, at least could not place her, at all. Middle-aged, more or less, of course—she wouldn't be haunting commencement days as a principal speaker otherwise—but slim, smart, easy-striding in her perfectly cut black with its single string of genuine pearls. Something about her suggested the hunting set from English novels: country-house stuff, diamonds and imports after hours. The name had a vague familiarity, at that. Somebody Aunt Lou believed in.

Miss Willesdon was speaking, now. She had a trained voice, clear and dynamically charming. "You think you young people of today—Eileen had missed something about that because she won your equal suffrage, because we freed your youth, boys and girls both, a generation ago, everything is won. . . ."

Oh yes. That was why Aunt Lou, who had worked for suffrage herself in her girlhood, was so rapt. It came back dimly to Eileen, who was not especially interested, that Edith Willesdon had been the young beauty of the suffrage movement. That she had ridden a white horse down Fifth Avenue a year or two before Eileen was born, at the head of a procession of women who were worrying about whether they could vote or not.

"You think you have equality of the sexes?" Miss Willesdon's ringing voice went on. "You have nothing of the sort. Not so long as one girl among you feels that she must use trickery, pretense, by-ends to win one man among you, instead of saying frankly to him, 'I love you. We can be happier together than apart; will you marry me?'" And not till any man among you dares to say to the girl he loves, 'I cannot earn for two. Marry me, and carry the financial burden till I am on my feet.' Not until. . . ."

Summons From Prexy

It sounded to Eileen like nonsense. She felt like rising and waving her hand and saying, "Don't be silly!"

Heaven knew you didn't have to use trickery or what have you on Jordan. In Eileen's experience so far, the trouble was to keep them from getting to the point where they asked you; for then you hadn't them as friends any longer. And as for a man asking you to marry him and support him—well, today if anybody had a job you did what you could and didn't make speeches. . . .

By the time her mind had returned from her own problems, the applause for Miss Willesdon was crashing out. The speech was over. The college orchestra was playing Victor Herbert in a relieved way. Then came the diplomas; and the class was mixing with the audience. Eileen skirted the president and his guests carefully. She was about to play hooky.

There was a quiet, almost furtive small party invariably given commencement night. Those in the secret knew. Those who weren't asked were left wryly to suspect. It was for the year's speaker, and a selected group of university and city celebrities. The pick of the graduating class were invited as a crowning honor.

The house of a millionaire patron of the university, for the university was fortunate in its millionaires, would be lighted up. There was to be an orchestra in the ballroom, there would be refreshments, there would be a chosen group of the city's important people moving in and out. And it was an understood thing that it was, in an elegant and superior way, a species of hiring fair. If you wanted a contact with somebody who might get you a job, you went to the Onderdonks' little quiet evening party—if you were asked.

Eileen had not intended to go at all. Some of the group she belonged to—and led—were pulling a quiet little affair of their own. At least, it would start by being quiet; Jerry's had little tables and paper napkins and a dance floor and a small but keen live band and very good beer.

And Jerry—Eileen smiled a little, on the steps as she strayed down to where her aunt stood—could choose between the flesh-pots of Egypt—old Onderdonk, the head trustee, the elegant orchestra and the caterers' ices—and dancing with her at Jerry's to the thump and wobble of the three-piece Negro band.

She greeted her aunt, excited and tearful in the crowded aisles, waved to Jordan, bolted back to the cloakroom and was off.

Or nearly. Just as she had almost gained the door, one of the faculty wives put a hand on her arm, and said, "Just a minute, Eileen; the president wants you."

That was that. She smiled brightly and let herself be led to where the president stood beside tall, bright-smiling Miss Willesdon.

Benedictine Ball Attended by 1500; Speakers Appeal for Larger Hospital

Some 1,500 patrons of the Easter Monday Ball, held last night at the municipal auditorium for the benefit of the Benedictine Hospital, heard an appeal by several speakers for enlargement of the institution, referred to by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman as a real "asset to the community." The speeches were made previous to the high class floor show which featured the social event sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital to help raise funds for the institution. Music for the occasion was furnished by two local orchestras, Paul Zucca's and Paul Purcell's.

Early in the evening, the spacious and beautifully decorated auditorium began to fill up with people for the first attraction on the program, a concert by Paul Purcell's band, with Mr. Purcell as vocalist.

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin was the first speaker to address the gathering and expressed the appreciation of the Benedictine Sisters and the Ladies' Auxiliary to all who had in any way helped to make the Easter Ball a success.

A tribute was paid by Attorney Cashin to the Sisters and auxiliary, too. He said "They are working for a fine cause, the Benedictine Hospital, but without your help they could not have so successfully promoted this social affair."

Referring to the hospital, Attorney Cashin said, "It is an institution of inner defense, and some day you may be called upon to enlarge it. When this time comes, I know you will be glad to respond in doing your part, just as you have tonight."

Mayor Heiselman, presented to the patrons by Attorney Cashin, extended a hearty welcome to all, officially opening the annual charity affair for the Benedictine. Concerning the hospital, the mayor said, "I am interested in the success of this splendid institution because it is an asset to and very essential to the community."

Speaking about the great demand at the hospital for accommodations, which are somewhat limited at present, Mayor Heiselman said, "I would welcome an opportunity, and so would all of you, I feel, to expand the hospital. It is my duty as a public official to have an interest in this institution which is so vital to our growing population."

The mayor devoted considerable time explaining the various departments, praising the features of the hospital laboratory and the up-to-date maternity ward. He stressed the importance for larger quarters to house these departments; also more room for the kitchen and nurses' home.

It was suggested by the mayor that a project be outlined for pro-urement of federal funds to help enlarge the hospital. "With taxes increasing and the national government using money to build in other localities, I am sure the residents of Ulster county would gladly approve of a grant for the Benedictine," he said.

In closing the mayor referred to the "splendid cooperation between the hospital and the city government," and said the institution deserved support.

The Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, P.R.V., president of the Benedictine Hospital, in addressing the gathering said that the patronage the Benedictine receives manifests the confidence of the public in the sisters to whom he paid high tribute for the sacrifices they make in life to care for the sick. "We, the public, owe these sisters a lot of gratitude," he said. Dean Drury also praised the Ladies' Auxiliary for its work in helping the hospital.

Monsignor John J. Stanley, former president of the hospital when he was pastor of St. Mary's Church, was one of the speakers also and added his tribute to those interested in helping the Benedictine Hospital.

Jerry Ryan, NBC baritone, was master of ceremonies for the floor show and also rendered several vocal selections, the most popular of which were "Till the Lights of London Shine Again," "Road to Mandalay," and "Santa Fe Trail."

A clever dance team, DeCarlos and Granada, formerly of the Park Central and Ben Mardens, did a Cuban rumba and whirlwind number and Bill Turk, "The Sailor Contortionist" made a hit with his act in which he featured his pet fox terrier, Trix.

The Trumpet Twins, who appeared with Fred Allen three times and on the Paul Whiteman program, were very popular with their renditions of "Carnival of Venice," "Aloha," a medley of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," and "God Bless America." The assemblage joined in "community singing" for these songs, and then the twins made a sensational finish with their rendition of "Hold That Tiger."

Oliver, Rudy and Ray, three steppers from the former Cotton Club in New York concluded the bill of entertainment with a snappy series of dances, including the Harlem raga "The Boogie Woogie."

Dancing was enjoyed until the early hours in the morning, with Paul Zucca's band furnishing the music.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

WEARING FLOWERS STEMS UP OR STEMS DOWN MERELY MATTER OF CHOICE, SAYS EMILY POST

It would be hardly fair were I to say that a black brocade evening dress is "wrong" on a girl of 18 simply because I think youth ought to look as young as it alone can look! Yet, that is very much what my answer would be like if I followed the suggestion made in this letter: "I was interested in a quiz shown in a double-page illustration in a recent magazine picturing an evening scene in a restaurant. The people were all supposed to illustrate mistakes. The correct answers were given by you. I was surprised to note that you did not add one more point in bad taste, which was the way one girl wore her flowers. These were pinned on stems up. Haven't you said that flowers should be pinned on stems down? Did this slip your notice or am I wrong about your having said it?"

As I have already indicated, I didn't mark this detail as wrong since there is no rule against pinning them any way one may choose. Because I happen to think that flowers look best with stems down, the way they grow, is no reason why everyone else should be expected to agree.

Card Leaving in 1941

Dear Mrs. Post: I was present yesterday at a gathering where the various ramifications of card-leaving were discussed. Your writings didn't seem to cover the situation sufficiently. It is this: Mrs. Newcomer does not have a maid and the other day when she returned home she found a Mr. and Mrs. card of her neighbor. There seem to be two opinions as to just what Mrs. Newcomer should now do: call or wait for Mrs. Neighbor to come again. If she is to call and her neighbor is not at home, should she leave her Mr. and Mrs. card or just her own? If Mrs. Neighbor is home and comes to the door, should she hand her this card instead of introducing herself, and if not, does she leave it at all?

Answer: It is Mrs. Newcomer's turn to go to see Mrs. Neighbor. If she finds her not at home, she should leave her Mr. and Mrs. card. If a maid opens the door, Mrs. Newcomer hands her this card and asks if Mrs. Neighbor is at home. On the other hand, if Mrs. Neighbor herself opens the door, Mrs. Newcomer would say, "I'm Mrs. Newcomer—I was very sorry to miss you when you came to see me the other day." Since there is no doubt about Mrs. Neighbor's knowing her name, it would be unnecessary formality to leave her card, unless the spelling of Mrs. Newcomer's name is difficult and it has not yet been included in the telephone book. In this case, she hands her card to Mrs. Neighbor as she goes out or leaves it on the table. It may make it clearer to you to explain that any of the neighbors calling on Mrs. Newcomer should leave their cards since it is very unlikely that she would be able to remember and keep straight the names of the many strangers who may come to see her.

Favors Graduated Tax on Wages

Colgate Professor Predicts War-Time Inflation

Hamilton, N. Y., April 14 — Unless the government imposes a stiff graduated tax on wages, to continue until the necessity for huge expenditures for war materials is over, the nation faces disastrous war-time inflation followed by equally disastrous peacetime depression, Dr. Charles F. Phillips, Colgate University economics professor predicted today.

Dr. Phillips, author of six books on economics, is a widely known authority on marketing.

The wage tax suggested by Dr. Phillips to supplement the present income taxes would have a three-fold purpose: To keep retail prices down during the war period, to give the government needed additional income for defense purposes and to mitigate the evils of passage from a war economy to a peace-time economy after the period of conflict.

Collected at the source, the tax suggested by Dr. Phillips would be made flexible. Thus it would be raised in case retail prices continued to climb or lowered in case they began falling too radically.

To help return the nation to a peace-time economy after the war without the dangers of a disastrous depression, Dr. Phillips would use part of the wage tax to build up savings account in the name of each wage earner. This money would be turned back after the war when huge government expenditures for defense would cease.

Passage from a war-time to a peace-time economy would thus be mitigated because consumers, through the return of their money, could keep up their purchasing power for civilian goods. This would check the drastic fall of prices which otherwise could be expected as government spending ceased. Only by a plan of this type does the Colgate professor see hope that industry will be able to shift smoothly from the manufacture of war-time to that of peace-time goods after the war.

Dr. Phillips pointed out that the plan would have no adverse effect on employment at the present time since government spending is creating more jobs than can be filled. There might be some decrease in employment in the retail trades, he admitted, but workers laid off there would be taken up by trades expanded by war purchases.

"If prices get out of hand, as seems likely under our present setup, inflation is certain," Dr. Phillips declared. "Moreover, there seems no possibility that we can avoid a post-war depression when spending for defense drops off. Under the graduated wage tax plan, however, prices for the war period could be kept down and, through the money turned back to wage earners after the war, industry could be kept going during the readjustment period with much less likelihood of a serious depression."

First Army Training Area in Virginia

The War Department announced today that it has been decided to locate the training area for the First Army in Caroline county, Virginia. The first area to be acquired is bounded as follows:

From a point approximately at Corbin running south through Widewater, Willboro, and then slightly southeast to Smotts, then east through White to a point on the highway about one mile north of the town of Passapatan, thence northwest to Moose Neck and from there westwardly to Corbin.

It is planned that the land contained within the area north of a northeasterly line running through Bowling Green and Port Royal will be procured by June 1, 1941, and that the balance of the land should be in the possession of the Government by September 1, 1941. Definite boundaries of the area will be determined as the acquisition of the necessary land contained within the general area progresses.

Prior to the decision to locate this maneuver and training area, the Army had made surveys of several other areas with a view of determining one offering the most advantages from a military view point. Advantages were weighed against the disadvantages which might accrue in each area because of the necessity of dislocation of land owners and tenants and their subsequent rehabilitation elsewhere. It was found that the Caroline county area was the best suited from a military viewpoint and that it offered no great difficulties than other localities in rehabilitation and resettlement.

Formaldehyde, itself an antiseptic, becomes a drug with healing properties when mixed with ammonia and other compounds.

of those now living within its boundaries.

Comprehensive plans for the resettlement and rehabilitation of the occupants of the area which is to be procured have been made.

The safeguards which have been set up, include the providing of resettlement and rehabilitation services, to protect the rights and interests of occupants who have been asked to vacate their property on the land now being acquired by the Army in Caroline county Virginia, for a maneuver and training area. The site consists of some 600 separate tracts. It is estimated that 4,700 persons are now living in the area.

Church school will meet next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Morning divine worship service will meet at 11 o'clock, with sermon by the pastor. Subject of sermon will be "Spiritual Looking Glass."

A "back-to-the-country" movement noted in Pennsylvania seems not to be a "back-to-the-land" trend but rather a "back-to-the-small-towns" movement.

Presbytery Meets At Local Church For Spring Parley

For the first time in several years the spring meeting of the North River Presbytery convened in the Rondout Presbyterian Church this morning for an all-day session. At the opening of the morning session 15 of the Presbyterians in Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties were represented by their pastors.

The Rev. William C. Swartz of the Pleasant Valley Presbyterian Church, moderator of the Presbytery, presided at the conference with the Rev. John Scott King, of Little Britain, as stated clerk, and the Rev. Devello Haynes of Highland, as permanent clerk of the Presbytery.

At the morning session permission was granted to the First Presbyterian Church of Newburgh to sell its manse.

The pastoral relations between the Rev. Leroy L. Daniel and the Presbyterian Church in Millerton at the request of the Rev. Mr. Daniel who was in attendance at the meeting.

Several matters of interest to the various churches in the Presbytery were discussed, and then the annual devotional service was held, presided at by the Rev. Francis Potter of the Salisbury Mills Presbyterian Church who took as his theme "Our Great Fraternity." During his address the Rev. Mr. Potter said that he would rather have a little dissension and lead people to the larger life rather than have all men like him and say that he was a good fellow.

"Some one has said that ministers are too much pampered," said the Rev. Mr. Potter, "but I would say that they are too much hampered in their work."

Every organization that builds churches and calls men to God, he said, are serving Christianity and he urged his hearers to co-operate with them 100 per cent and God would smile on the church.

Following the devotional period a golf business session was held and the Presbytery then adjourned to the chapel where the ladies of the church served dinner to some 60 ministers and elders of the churches in the Presbytery.

Following the dinner the Presbytery reconvened and remained in session during the entire afternoon.

The Rev. D. Linton Doherty of the Pleasant Valley church, and he and H. L. Van Deusen represented the church at the Presbytery meeting while the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street was represented by the pastor, the Rev. William McVey and Kenneth Ayers.

Among the officers of the Presbytery present at the meeting were George W. Peck of Poughkeepsie, the treasurer, the Rev. Charles Moser of Pine Plains, chairman of the committee on united promotion, and the Rev. Charles W. Imbrie, of Newburgh, chairman of the committee on ministerial relations. The Rev. Mr. Doherty is chairman of the committee on foreign mission and the committee on leaves of absence, while the Rev. Seth Craig of Newburgh was chairman on the committee on balloting.

Refusal to Leave Cellar Results in Man's Arrest

Emmett Decker was arrested last night on a charge of disorderly conduct when he entered the cellar of his wife's home at 17 Belvedere street, and refused to vacate the premises. This morning Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court sentenced Decker to six months in the county jail.

Decker on April 4 had been released from the county jail where he had been serving a six months sentence for a similar offense to that of last night. Six months ago he broke into the cellar of his wife's home where he was found and arrested by the police.

Abie S. Harris of Cleveland, O., charged with overtime parking, forfeited bail by not appearing in court today, as did Joseph Conney of Ulster. Park, charged with operating a car without having an operator's or a chauffeur's license.

been at liberty under that bail bond.

Appraisal Made
In court this morning Mr. Traver told the court he had an appraisal made and it had been found the property was worth but a few hundred dollars more than existing mortgages. One real estate expert placed a value of but $100 to $300 over and above the amount of the mortgage on the property and far below the necessary $2,000.

District Attorney Traver asked that the bail bond be cancelled in view of the appraisal.

Daniel Hoffman for the defendant asked that bail be reduced to $500, the amount set in city court before indictment, and Judge Conway denied that application and directed that the surety appear in court at 10 o'clock Friday morning and justify the bond.

This will mean that Mrs. Melik as surety must show that the property is worth over and above existing mortgages twice the amount of the $1,000 bail or $2,000 or that she is personally worth that sum.

Mr. Hoffman asked the court to grant him a week to justify the bond but Mr. Traver objected on the grounds that it was two weeks ago that he had asked the court for the right to have an appraisal made and he argued that this notice had been sufficient and additional time should not be required.

Judge Conway allowed the defendant until Friday morning to come into court and have the surety justify the bail bond.

of the Pharaohs toward the Suez Canal.

The German-Italian counter-offensive raised the possibility that Egypt, Britain's non-belligerent ally, might soon be drawn into the war.

Secret Session Held

In a secret session, the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies ratified an agreement reached between the government and British authorities. The nature of the agreement was not disclosed.

The vanguard of the Axis expeditionary force in North Africa was reported pressing deeper into Egypt after capturing Sidi Barrani, just inside the border from Libya.

The fate of the trapped British garrison at Tobruk remained uncertain, but London officials said that between 200 and 300 German prisoners had been seized in a British counter-attack, and that 12 Axis planes had been shot down over the Libyan fortress.

On the Albanian-Yugoslav front Italian press dispatches said the Serb army was being forced back into the mountains at most places. They told of a fierce battle in which masses of shouting Serbs hurled themselves against Italian lines near Scutari, on northern Albania's frontier with Yugoslavia. These reports said the attack had failed.

The German press declared 110,000 tons of British supply ships and transports had been sunk or damaged by German dive bombers in attacks on Piraeus, the port for Athens. It was implied that the ships had been brought up to take British forces out of Greece.

British bombers were credited with a new night attack on Breslau, raided seven times in the past two weeks in an attempt to put out of action the Nazi headquarters Gneisenau and Schornhorst, anchored there.

Raiders on England overnight were described in London as relatively light.

Asserting that more than 700,000 men already were occupying completed new quarters, Stimson recalled that when the armistice was signed in 1918, there were 172 construction projects of various types unfinished.

Study Effect of Wage Increase on Earnings, Prices

Following action taken by National Steel last week six steel companies on Monday raised wages 16 per cent, to 72½ cents an hour. They are U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet, Otis and Acme. The increase will cost U. S. $62,000,000 a year. Management is now studying its effect on earnings and prices. The major steel companies are seen as absorbing the wage rise without actually going into the red, although naturally earnings would be considerably curtailed, unless prices are raised. Some 35 smaller, non-integrated companies are likely to be hard hit unless they can get higher prices for their product.

The question of raising prices of finished steel presents a problem for Leon Henderson and his newly formed committee on Price Administration and Civilian Supply.

A scarcity of coke is having its effect on steel production. Output for this week is scheduled at 98.3 per cent of capacity as against 99.3 per cent last week.

In Texas 60,000 oil workers were given a five per cent wage increase, retroactive to April 1. Increase was granted on the basis of rising living costs.

From Chicago comes the prediction that furniture buyers this spring will have to pay higher prices and that at the Chicago furniture market in May wholesale prices will be seven to ten per cent higher than those established last winter.

At that time increases averaging five per cent were put into effect. The industry is feeling the effect of growing shortages of essential materials, lack of skilled workmen and rising labor costs.

Production of airplane engines for the defense program started Monday in the new 50-acre plant of Wright Aeronautical Corp. at Cincinnati. Ground was broken for the plant on October 23 last. It is the largest single story industrial plant in the U. S. and is still unfinished.

Department store sales in the New York and Brooklyn area for the week ended April 12, were 28 per cent above a year ago, according to preliminary report of New York Federal Reserve Bank.

After early losses yesterday in which many issues on the New York Stock Exchange moved downward (107 stocks made new lows for 1941 during the day), there was a rally that wiped out early losses and left the Dow Jones averages irregularly higher for the day. The industrial average closed with a net gain of 29 point, first advance in eight sessions, to 118.89. Ralls moved up 17 to 28.6, but utilities closed 97 lower, to 18.62. Volume was moderate, 458,700 shares, with heaviest dealings in the final hour, when 160,000 shares changed hands.

Grains and cotton led a general rise in commodities, the Dow Jones futures index rising 0.32 point, to 64.06, highest since January 2 and the spot index was highest since August, 1937. Wheat was 1½ to 1½ cents higher, and cotton closed with advances of six to 13 points. Cottonseed oil was 13 to 18 points higher. Rubber closed almost ¼ cent higher and silk advanced sharply before reacting as signing of the Russo-Japanese treaty brought alarm to these markets. There was speculative liquidation in sugar, coffee and cocoa markets.

Reported that the opposition group has mustered proxies totaling more than 15 per cent of the outstanding preferred and common stock of New Haven R. R. for the annual meeting tomorrow. Not expected that they will succeed in electing a new board of 15 directors, but will record a strong protest vote that may be of value in opposing the present reorganization plan. Held that the large holdings of Pennsylvania Railroad and Pennroad will be voted in favor of the present board.

New York City Produce Market

New York, April 15 (AP)—The stock market regained its equilibrium today after a slip-up in early dealings.

While dealings were sluggish throughout, initial declines running to a point or more were counteracted by advances of as much by mid-day. Lack of demand was a cooling factor, however, and extreme upturns were reduced or cancelled in some cases near the final hour. Transfers were at the rate of about 400,000 shares.

Bonds and commodities steadied. Among supported stocks were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, American Telephone, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Warner Bros. and Texas Corp.

In the curb occasional modest gains were tacked on Creole Petroleum, Humble Oil, American Gas, American Cyanamid "B," Niagara Hudson Power and Pennroad.

Machine of Juror Taken Today From Parking Grounds

Granville Quick of Napanoch, a juror at the present term of county court, had a rather unpleasant three-quarters of an hour this morning, when he came out to the public parking ground on John street and found that his 1939 Plymouth sedan was missing.

Attendant Reynolds of the parking ground told Mr. Quick that the car had been driven out of the grounds by a man who looked something like him. He said that he even helped the man get the car out from where it had been parked, right next to the drive between the parking ground and the court house.

Mr. Quick reported the matter to the sheriff's office and the Kingston Police Department was notified. Not long afterward word was received that the car had been located by Motorcycle Officer Cramer. It had been abandoned near 85 North Front street.

Quick had missed the car when he came out of the court house around 11 o'clock, having been excused from further jury duty, and went to look for the car where he had left it. He said that he had left the car unlocked and with the registration and insurance in the glove compartment. However, he had the switch key in his pocket. As to just why the car was taken and why it was abandoned after being driven such a short distance are still unsolved mysteries.

High-Speed Experiment in Higher Education Covers 4-Year College Course in 20 Months

By ROMNEY WHEELER
AP Feature Service

Atlanta—Six earnest young men, survivors of an eleven-man "brain team," have just qualified for four-year bachelor of arts degrees in less than 20 months.

President Thornwell Jacobs of Oglethorpe University, who started the eleven on a six-year grind in September, 1939, looked over their report cards and observed:

1. The collective average for the group is better than 92 per cent on a study program of 30 class hours a week—twice the normal load.

2. The boys are healthy, happy and still going strong.

3. The experiment has gone far enough to demonstrate his principal thesis—"that the average college is a loosely-knit, time-wasting organization resembling a country club as much as an institute of learning, and approximately half the time of its students is devoted to pursuits other than education."

Five of the original eleven have dropped out of the experiment. One married, one withdrew because of illness, another because of religious reasons, another to support his family, and one "just didn't size up."

The remaining six, with Fred Goss as leader, expect to qualify for their masters' degrees by next fall, and then embark on four more years of work for degrees of doctor of arts and sciences.

Along with their studies they will assist the Oglethorpe faculty until their graduation in 1945—they will have taught as well as studied every course offered by the university.

"They will be the best educated college men ever to graduate from an American institution," Dr. Jacobs said. "They will have undertaken four times as much work as a Harvard graduate."

No Distractions
"It is not because of any particular brilliance on the part of the boys. It is due solely and only to two things:

1. They are intensely in earnest, knowing that upon them depends the outcome of this educational experiment."

Marshall Asher of Athens, Tex., still leads the "brain team" as he has from the start, with an average of better than 95 per cent. Second is Edgar Vallette of Shreveport, La., with 94.5. Others are John Goldswait, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Goss, of Pretor, Vt.; John Meacham, Jr., Seaboard, Miss.; and Keith Lane, Mountairain, N. M.

Must Attend Church
"For many years," explains Dr. Jacobs, "I have believed that the better students at American colleges could do twice as much work as is now being done.

"The boys have no distractions. They get plenty of exercise. They are on the football field more than any other students. They have fixed times for meals, library work, study, sleep. From Saturday noon until Sunday at 6 p. m. they are free to do what they wish, except that they must attend church in a body Sunday morning."

"The results speak for themselves."

Dr. Jacobs said only Goss is over 21 and so subject to military service, and expressed opinion he would likely be rejected for defective vision.

10 Are Arraigned Before Conway; Plead Innocence

Mt. Pleasant and Mt. Tremper pleaded not guilty to two burglary indictments. It is charged that the crime of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry was committed on January 23 and also on January 24. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the defendant and asked that bail be continued. Doyle was accompanied on his escapades by another young lad from the locality whose case came up in Children's Court because he was a minor. Several boarding houses were entered.

Charles Ferguson, 18, of Walden pleaded not guilty to a burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry charge alleged to have been committed on December 23 at Wallkill when he allegedly entered a chicken plant. Jules Ewig appeared and asked 20 days to make further motions and bail in the sum of $500 was continued.

Saul Countryman, 45, of High Falls faced three indictments charging rape, second degree, growing out of an alleged attack on a town of Rosendale minor. The charges allege acts on July 1, 1939 and Countryman told the court he had no funds to hire an attorney. Judge Conway said he would assign counsel to advise with the defendant. Pleas of not guilty were entered.

Woodrow Smith of Kyserike, 26, also faced two indictments charging rape, second degree, growing out of the same affair as Countryman. The bills charged the crimes against Smith had taken place on December 1, 1939, and involved acts against the same complainant. Counsel will also be assigned to Smith and meanwhile a plea of not guilty was entered and bail continued.

Three Are Arraigned
Malvin Winne of High Woods and Elmer and Floyd Palen of Kingston were arraigned on charges of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry to a building alleged to have taken place on March 8, 1941. The charge involves entry to a High Woods place. The two Palens were brought back from Georgia where they were apprehended following arrest of Winne. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the two Palens and pleas of not guilty were entered and the bail of Elmer Palen was continued. Winne said Morris Rosenblum of Saugerties was his counsel and he too pleaded not guilty.

A second charge of burglary third degree, and unlawful entry was also filed against the trio, that charge dealing with acts on March 1, 1941. All three pleaded not guilty and the same disposition was made of the cases.

Dewey Parker, 29, who was recently returned from Berkeley, W. Virginia, to face a charge of abandonment of children in violation of Section 480 of the Penal Law, said when asked how he pleaded: "Guilty, I guess" but the court changed the plea and had a plea of not guilty entered until counsel could be assigned and Parker given an opportunity to consult with a lawyer. It is alleged the abandonment took place on May 27, 1940. Judge Conway said he would assign counsel within twenty-four hours if Parker desired that action and meanwhile the not guilty plea would stand. There was no application for bail.

Harry Martin of Napanoch, represented by Chris J. Flanagan, pleaded not guilty to a charge of carnal abuse of a child on September 15, 1940 and was allowed 20 days to make further motions. Bail was continued.

Since the MacDonald case was set down for trial beginning today Mr. Haver did not call the criminal calendar. MacDonald is represented by John W. DeWitt.

Criminal matters will be taken up this week and next week should there be sufficient criminal matters to keep the court busy. Civil matters will be taken up during the week of April 28. Should the criminal matters break next week there is a possibility that No. 20, Peter J. Schreber against The Callanan Road Improvement Company, Inc., may be taken up on

Wynne, Mrs. William Finger, Miss Anna Watson, Miss Pauline Hommel, Miss Isabel Myer, Miss May Evans, Miss Frances Larned, Miss Signe Gronman, Miss Harriet Anderson, Miss Laura Lewis and Miss Hart. A gift in the form of a week-end case was presented to Miss Hart.

Mint—used to flavor toothpaste, gum, and medicines, is grown commercially on only 1,743 farms in the United States—practically all in southern Michigan and northern Indiana. Mint is distilled, producing mint oil. Average production of oil to the acre was 35 pounds. Mint grows on muck land.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, April 15 (AP)—Kansas City thinks it has a shortstop—Bill Hitchcock—who'll make the fans forget Phil Rizzuto. That'll be mighty nice going, if the kid can go it. . . . How about that Broadway talk that Bob Pastor is jealous of stablemate Abe Simon and is doing a little panning on the side? . . . We doff our bowler to Lloyd McMaster of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, only sports writer in American game enough to pick the Browns to win the American League rag. There'll be a Hall of Fame niche reserved for him if he hits. . . . Joe Gould still is writing letters on stationery labeled "James J. Braddock, heavyweight champion of the world."

One-Minute Interview

Fritz Crisler: "Tommy Harmon isn't the best football player I ever coached. . . . He's the best I ever had—I didn't have to coach him."

Caught in the Fly

Max Baer is headed for the movies again. . . . Zeke Bonura, blasting the pill and hustling, is the hit of the Minneapolis camp. . . . Biggest change in the latest call-over of derby prices was the dropping of Robert Morris from 200 to 30 to 1. . . . Here's had news—Henry Armstrong is talking about a comeback. Somebody head him off right quick. . . .

Today's Guest Star

R. G. Lynch, Milwaukee Journal: "Now Max Baer and Tony Galento can be relegated to oblivion. . . . There never was much excuse for Galento's presence in the upper flight of heavyweights. . . . He who called everybody else a bum was the biggest bum of all. . . . Baer will linger in this observer's memory as the man who might have licked Louis but licked himself instead."

Rounding 'Em Up

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach, was a flop in the A.B.C.—321 for three games. . . . Not all of the Phillies are forgotten men. Their club-house boy will appear on "We the People" tonight. . . . Uncle Charlie Moran, the old National League umpire, is living the life of Riley on his stock farm near Horse Cave, Ky. . . . And Gil Dobie, the gloomy football coach, lives in semi-retirement far from the Boston College campus where he last coached. . . . Don't look now, but for the second consecutive year the Longwood Bowl tennis tournament is apt to be called off.

Another Jim, Maybe

Could the Jim Gallagher who, as general manager of the Chicago Cubs, is having more trouble than any other fellow signing up his ball players, be the same Jim Gallagher who once wrote in the Chicago American that the Cubs didn't pay their players enough?

Reverse English

The Fort Worth Telegram sort of reverses the order of things. . . . It says: "Suggestion: Go to the ball game Sunday."

Golf Swing Tune-Up

By CRAIG WOOD

Augusta Masters' Golf Champion

I. STANCE: The success of every shot depends on the way in which the player prepares for it beforehand. A relaxed and easy stance is the first requisite of a good swing. Care should be taken to see that the entire body is in a natural, comfortable position. The ball should be placed on a line opposite the left heel for the drive. Both feet should be pointed slightly out and the hands should be held close to the body. Relax the hips and legs and distribute your weight evenly.

F. D. R. TOSSES OUT THE FIRST BALL

In Washington, President Roosevelt throws out the first ball marking the opening of the 1941 season as the Washington Senators tangled with the New York Yankees. On hand to watch are, left to right: Rudolph Foster of the White House staff; Harry L. Hopkins (behind Foster); Col. Harry Hooker; Mary Ann Gray, Orlando, Fla.; Stephen Early, presidential secretary; the President; Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson; Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators (behind Watson); and W. W. Richardson, Washington club official. The Chief Executive saw Marius Russo, Yankees southpaw, shut out the home team, 3-0, giving them only three hits.

Bronx Bombers Help Nats Break Tape in American League With 3 to 0 Win

By JUDSON BAILEY (Associated Press)

Sixteen major league baseball machines were lined up today for action before more than 200,000 fans—but, even on opening day, it was the old familiar story of chasing the New York Yankees.

The fearsome bombers from the Bronx got a jump on the other teams yesterday by shellingacking the Washington Senators, 3-0, before President Roosevelt and 32,000 other capital fans.

The way the Yanks took the lead in the American League before their rivals could get started was something like the way they used to scare their foes into submission by blasting countless "home runs" into the stands and over the fences in batting practice before their games began. They didn't even give Washington a chance during the contest. The ceremonies of Vice President Wallace raising the American flag and President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball were hardly over before the Yanks had rolled out in front.

Red Rolfe, second man up, singled to right. He was forced by Tommy Henrich, but the latter went all the way to second on a wild throw and scored quickly on a towering triple by Joe DiMaggio.

Senators Stunned

The Senators, as well as the spectators, were practically stunned by the ease of the thrust, and Marius Russo, slender sophomore southpaw, never let them recover. He held the nationals to three scattered singles and started two of the Yankees' three double plays. In addition, the Yanks punched out another run in the fifth on two doubles, one by Russo himself, and scored again in the sixth on two singles and a long fly.

The Yanks were due to open their home season today against the Philadelphia Athletics and, after two other games against the same foes at New York, return to Washington for a series with the Senators.

The Detroit Tigers, on the other hand, had to face the St. Louis Browns, "spoilers" of better teams all last season, and the Cleveland Indians ran into the always-dangerous Chicago White Sox in their openers today. Friday, the Indians and the Tigers will tangle at Detroit.

Reds-Cards Clash

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds, western division king pins of the National League clashed today at Cincinnati, while the Brooklyn Dodgers, their arch rivals in the East, took on the list-lacking New York Giants.

From a fan's viewpoint, however, the show at Cincinnati shaped up as the day's most interesting and important. Crosley Field was sold out of reserved seats for the opener long ago as a result of the Cincinnati custom of giving the tickets as Christmas gifts.

Until proved otherwise, the Reds have to be regarded the likely winner next fall because they have unequalled pitching and defense and have bolstered their batting strength through the trade with Chicago for outfielder Jim Gleason.

The other openers included Pittsburgh at Chicago and Boston at Philadelphia in the national, and Washington at Boston in the American.

'Pennant Year' for Brooks Gets Under Way Today, 3 P. M.

Reese and Reiser Will Not See Action in 1st Game at Ebbs Field as Team Meets Giants

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—Brooklyn's "Pennant Year" was scheduled to get under way today, with the Dodgers opposing their old enemy, the New York Giants.

Despite a forecast of cooler weather and possible showers, a capacity crowd of 35,000 was expected at Ebbs Field. Manager Leo Durocher, starting at shortstop in place of the injured Pee Wee Reese, nominated Whitlow Wyatt as starting pitcher against another veteran right-hander, Hal Schumacher. With Reese and Pete Reiser out, Brooklyn's only new comer in the starting lineup was Paul Waner, former Pittsburgh outfielder. The Giants presented two new regulars, Morrie Aronovich and Joe Orenco.

Trojans Beat Bears

Los Angeles, April 15 (AP)—Dean Cromwell rolled out the University of Southern California Trojan horse, unloosed a bunch of promising sophomores against a surprised California track team, and walked off with a 14-57 victory. The Trojans walloped California's best team in eight years and gave Cromwell his 17th consecutive duel victory over the Bears.

A's Win 100 3 Years Straight

Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics are the only American league baseball club which won more than 100 games for three consecutive seasons. The A's topped 104, 102 and 107 starting in 1939.

Painted Nails Cure Child's Thumb-Sucking

Boston, April 15 (AP)—Finger nails painted a bright red are suggested by Dr. Richard H. Norton as a cure for little girls who suck their thumbs.

He told the Massachusetts Dental Society yesterday that feminine vanity of the children—even when they were only three or four years old—was aroused by colorful nails.

Declaring the experiment was tried on his granddaughter, he said "the child was delighted and not once since has she put her fingers in her mouth."

Before that, he added, "we had tried a number of evil-tasting solutions without success."

There was a considerable increase in farm tenancy in North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Colorado during the last decade according to the Census.
